KING IN NORTH AFRICA AS FORCES GIRD FOR INVASION

Next Allied Blow Nervously Awaited By Axis Leaders

Enemy Broadcasts Various Report Great United Nations Fleet Massing in Western Half Of The Mediterranean

By ROGER GREENE
Associated Press War Editor

King George VI has arrived secretly in North Africa today on what may be a final "pre-zero hour" visit to the British and American armies girding for an invasion of southern Europe.

While Axis invasion alarms rang with peak intensity up and down the Mediterranean, ranging from Gibraltar to the Turkish-Syrian frontier, Allied headquarters announced that the king had already inspected his victorious armed forces in the field and bestowed on Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower the insignia of Knight Grand Cross, Order of the Bath.

It was the monarch's first trip to an active war theatre since he visited the British army in France early in 1940, a few months before Adolf Hitler's armies swept into France and the low countries on the march that led to Dunkerque.

Today the situation was reversed, with the Axis nervously awaiting the next Allied blow.

Enemy broadcasts variously reported that a great Allied invasion fleet was massing in the western half of the Mediterranean, that the

MANY PLACES ON CONTINENT ARE BOMBED

RAF Ranges From Denmark to France in Renewed Violent Aerial Offensive

PLANES NEAR BERLIN

London, June 16—(P)—The British announced that RAF bombers ranged the continent from Denmark to France last night as the renewed Allied aerial offensive continued through its fifth successive night, and a German broadcast indicated some of the raiders were near Berlin.

British sources said Berlin's alert probably was the result of British reconnaissance flights in which some bombs may have been dropped.

The Berlin radio said Allied bombers also were over North Germany last night and "isolated" bombs caused insignificant damage. There was no immediate confirmation from British sources, however.

An official announcement reported that whirlwinds had bombarded an airfield near Dunkerque, shot up a tug and barges on the Brugesghent Canal, strafed barges in the Lys canal and machine-gunned a freight train in the same area. A German Focke-Wulf fighter which attempted to intercept the raiders was reported damaged.

A lone Mosquito bomber, meanwhile, stabbed 500 miles across the (Turn to Page Nine)

U. S. Planes Renew Raids In The Solomons

Washington, June 16—(P)—United States planes attacked Japanese positions in the central and northwestern Solomon Islands Sunday and Monday, the navy reported today, and enemy fliers countered with an attack on Guadalcanal early Tuesday.

No estimates of damage inflicted by the American attacks were given, but a communiqué said that no personnel or material damage had been reported here as a result of the Japanese assault.

Kahili is a Japanese airbase near Buin, which is a port on the southeastern end of Bougainville island. Bougainville is the northeastern island of the Solomons chain. Shortland Island lies a few miles off Buin.

Vila, on Kolombangara island is the central Solomons about 100 miles northwest of the American airbase in the Russells, immediately north of Guadalcanal.

BUTLER YOUTH KILLED

Butler, June 16—(P)—Staff sergeant LeRoy D. Donaldson was killed May 14 "while engaged in a last attack on Axis territory in Europe," his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elliott Donaldson of Chicago, D. 3, were notified yesterday by the war department.

TOJO ADMITS SITUATION IS MORE TENSE

Jap Parliament Warned of Mounting Signs of Allied Offensive on Large Scale

NEW PACIFIC THRUST

By the Associated Press
Japan's Premier Hideki Tojo warned the Japanese parliament today that the war situation was becoming "increasingly tense" and declared there were mounting signs that a British-American offensive on a large scale was near.

Speaking as the Chinese armies pressed their victorious drive on the upper Yangtze river front and Allied warplanes heaped new destruction on Japanese invasion forces in the South Seas, Tojo declared:

That the Mokado's armies were carrying out "grand scale" operations in China, along the Burmese-Indian frontier and in the Pacific.

Japan, he said, would exert every effort to help India "expel and eliminate Anglo-Saxon influences."

In the southwest Pacific, Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters disclosed that Allied troops had thrust to an area 90 miles northwest of the Japanese base at Lae, New Guinea, while in the skies a flight of 19 U. S. Liberators dropped 23 more tons of explosives on the enemy stronghold at Rabaul, New Britain.

Striking for the fourth time in six days, the big American bombers set fires visible for 60 miles after a two-hour attack on the Lakunai airfield at Rabaul, All returned safely to base.

On the China front, dispatches said Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's armies, relentlessly following up their victory on the upper Yangtze river, had slashed rail communications to the key Japanese base at Yochow and were preparing to move against the stronghold itself.

WLB To Stick By Formula In Limiting Pay

Washington, June 16—(P)—The War Labor Board (WLB) intends to stick by the Little Steel Formula—limiting pay increases to 15 per cent above January, 1941 levels—through "thick and thin" despite anticipated pressure from workers for wage boosts when the 20 per cent payroll deductions for income taxes start July 1.

Dr. George W. Taylor, vice chairman of the board, made that declaration before the house appropriations subcommittee considering the WLB request for $14,341,300 for the fiscal year 1944. The testimony was made public today.

Rep. Ludlow (D-Ind.) pointed out that next month "millions of wage earners throughout the country will find 20 per cent less in their pay envelopes on account of the withholding tax" and asked Taylor if the board anticipated that human nature will generate some pressure for a wage increase.

Taylor said that a large scale "educational job" would be needed, and that information releases and instructions to wage and hour offices were being readied to that end.

Amphibious Force Preparing For Zero Hour In Britain

By JAMES M. LONG
On England's South Coast, June 16—(P)—When the hour of invasion strikes, the high name of a navy made famous by men like Drake and Nelson will rest for one climactic moment in the hands of purposeful young Yorkshire farm lads and London truck drivers, who have been building the new naval assault tradition with Dieppe and North Africa for a starter.

These recruits—mostly men of last year's draft—have been training by the hundreds at scattered coastal bases to man the swiftly

Head of OPA Charts Drive 'To Clean Up'

Chief Problems Facing Director Are Personnel and Food Prices

CONFERS WITH BYRNES

BY IRVING PERLMETER
Washington, June 16—(P)—Price Administration Prentiss M. Brown squared his jaw today and announced he was getting out "to clean up the mess people think OPA is in."

His chief problems were personnel and food prices. The personnel question he hoped to clear out in six days. The food question, laden with the political and economic dynamite of such things as subsidies, margins, chain versus independent competition, may take a while longer.

Back from a 16 day vacation in Michigan, where he went to think through all the controversy that surrounds the Office of Price Administration (OPA), Brown declined, in a brief interview, to fore-shadow specific actions. But he made it plain he had made up his mind about certain things.

One of his first actions on returning to Washington yesterday was to call on James I. Byrnes, director of war mobilization—apparently to discuss his plans. Byrnes has been reported pressing Brown for action.

As for the food question, Brown declared failure to solve it would mean "a major defeat on the home front—perhaps collapse of the whole stabilization program."

Brown, President Roosevelt, Byrnes and Fred M. Vinson, director of economic stabilization, all have declared for government subsidies to control food costs. Brown has gone further and arranged with Jesse Jones' reconstruction finance corporation to subsidize butter (began last week) meat (next week), and coffee (soon).

SUB TO BE LAUNCHED

Boston, June 16—(P)—A submarine and two destroyer escorts will be christened in New England within the next few days. First Naval District Headquarters announced today. The submarine Burfish will be launched Friday at the Portsmouth (N.H.) navy yard with Miss Jane E. Davis, daughter of Sen. James J. Davis (R-Pa.) of the senate naval affairs committee, as sponsor.

Charge Three With Slaying

Greensburg, June 16—(P)—Three young men were held today on an information filed by State Police in New England, charging them with the murder of 82-year-old Francis Marion Wilson, who was beaten and robbed of $300 in his mountain home.

MINE DISPUTE DECISION IS ABOUT READY

War Labor Board Expected to Rule Today on Award For Underground Travel

TO BE "SUBSTANTIAL"

BY JOSEPH A. LOETUS
Washington, June 16—(P)—A War Labor Board (WLB) decision is expected late today or tomorrow awarding a definite sum of money to soft coal miners for underground travel time.

Board members were authoritatively reported leaning to this kind of decision, rather than throwing out the whole portal-to-portal issue and letting litigation or strike take its course.

The United Mine Workers' policy committee has called a meeting for 2:30 p. m. (EWT) to review the entire situation. UMW President John L. Lewis probably will hold the committee in Washington pending a WLB decision at least, and possibly until the end of the week when the extension period ordered after the recent work stoppage expires.

Although no definite sum has been debated by the board, it is expected the award will be substantially less than the $130 a day which Central Pennsylvania Producers and the United Mine Workers had agreed to in principle but failed to reduce to mutually acceptable language in writing.

The issue is whether travel time and, if so, is the payment already included in present rates. If it is not, should the operators' liability begin after the miners' 35 hour basic work week, which includes only the actual working time, or should it begin after the statutory 40 hour week, and should the compensation be at straight time rates, time and a half, or some other rate?

The Central Pennsylvania Producers advised the WLB yesterday their negotiations with the miners collapsed over the question of a permanent or a temporary settlement of the portal to portal issue.

GENTLEMAN YEGG SOUGHT

Pittsburgh, June 16—(P)—A well dressed gunman wearing his black hair in a slick pompadour was sought today for yesterday's daylight holdup of two employees of a cigarette machine company in adjoining Wilkensburg, in which $8,000 was taken. The robber stepped into the employees' car at a traffic light, forced them to drive it around a corner and alight, then drove away with the loot.

O. W. I. Chief Is Criticized For Remarks

Washington, June 16—(P)—Two members of congress criticized Elmer Davis, chief of the Office of War Information (OWI), yesterday, over accusing him of seeking to be a "propaganda minister," the other saying he ought to be investigated.

The criticism, not the first aimed at Davis since he relinquished a radio broadcasting job to take the OWI helm, arose over a speech in Boston in which Davis said Washington news coverage was inadequate.

Senator Bridges (R-NH) told the senate yesterday that Davis was "trying to silence the press to cover the sin of mal-administration on the part of the new deal in the war effort." He said the newspaper reporters in Washington were to be "commended, not criticized, for their outstanding effort...their masterful accomplishment of a difficult task."

Bridges said Davis was objecting, perhaps, because "they have uncovered news about Washington which does not look too well outside of Washington."

Davis, addressing the American Newspaper Guild, declared that capital newsmen were overlooking the big story of the war—production—while paying attention to interdepartmental bickerings.

RESCUE ATTEMPT FAILS

Sharon, June 16—(P)—A pedestrian leaped fully clothed into the Shenango river near the downtown State street bridge yesterday but failed to save eight-year-old Agnes Marie Barnett from drowning. She was swept to her death while swimming. M. R. Hasell made the leap but the girl escaped him. Her body was recovered ten minutes later.

Panel Board Demonstration By Bell Representatives Is Revelation To Local Crowd

Prefaced and interspersed with music by the combined VFW and National Forge bands, the public meeting held last night at the high school by the Warren County Defense Council and the Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania proved a revelation in many ways even to those persons comprising the civilian defense personnel and conversant with much of the information presented.

Chairman Allen Gibson expressed the council's appreciation of this opportunity of further acquainting the public with its promotional and educational program and extended its thanks to the utility company, the band members and others taking part. In turn, he presented R. W. Steber, Burgess, member of the council and its advisory staff, who voiced appreciation of the entire community for the job that has been done by the Civilian Defense Corps.

A timely gas mask demonstration was staged by Lt. Victor Ver-Milyea, senior gas officer for Warren county, and two members of the decontamination squad, Don Curtis and Art Cross. Briefly, the officer explained construction of the gas mask, method of operation, care in handling and the step-by-step procedure for donning such equipment when the gas order is given.

It was explained that 368 of these masks are now available for corps members and it is anticipated that the entire personnel will eventually be provided with the equipment.

The panel board demonstration was presented by three Bell Telephone representatives, Mr. J. H. Junk, A. N. Buck and M. M. Micklas, promotional and engineering experts from Pittsburgh. In his opening remarks, Mr. Junk paid a fine compliment to the large unformed group of Civilian Air Patrol officers and students occupying front seats.

Explaining the special interest that his company has in the civilian defense program, the speaker referred to the widespread organization that is necessary for Warren, a task that involves covering territory to the coast and beyond, all being handled with what is practically its regular peacetime setup.

Pike gave his view in a Washington interview Monday regarding the recent refusal of OPA to grant a general 35 cents a barrel increase in crude oil prices.

Hallahan, who is president of the Plymouth Oil Company, said Pike had used "cunning language" in an effort to create the impression that oil producers had benefited from the discontinuance of discounts. This, he said in a statement, was "obviously deceptive."

Hallahan said the discounts applied only to sales of refined petroleum products and affected only a few large integrated companies "which, in the main, are substantial purchasers of crude."

"The truth is," he said, "that some of these companies have been profiting from the distress that OPA policies have caused independent crude producers. Many of them have been buying oil properties from the small independent producers who are daily being forced out of business."

Davis, addressing the American Newspaper Guild, declared that capital newsmen were overlooking the big story of the war—production—while paying attention to interdepartmental bickerings.

BUDGETS FOR WAR AGENCIES ARE REDUCED

Reports of Nation's Economic Chiefs Tell Epic Story of Progress on Home Front

PRAISE AND CRITICISM

By the Associated Press
Washington, June 16—(P)—A $2,921,441,504 omnibus appropriations bill, bundling up the fiscal needs of 18 government war agencies, was turned over to congress today as the nation's economic war chiefs told an epic story of American progress in the battle of the home front.

It was the first annual report, the balance sheet for the past year and the budget sheet for the next for such war-born bureaus as the Office of Price Administration (OPA), the War Production Board (WPB), censorship, the Office of War Information (OWI), and the War Shipping Administration (WSA).

Spread over 2,100 printed pages of testimony were the explanations of top officials in charge of directing the country's economic life, from war production to consumer prices. There was praise and criticism from the house appropriations committee which approved their 1944 allocations.

Part of that criticism was reflected in the accompanying appropriations bill. Few of the agencies escaped reductions as the committee inquired into such details as the need for expanding staffs, why the OPA's rently division should have been 80 tons of carbon paper.

War Production Chief Donald Nelson testified that "we are rapidly approaching the limit in our productive capacity in this country." He said the total output in 1943 would reach approximately $180,000,000,000 and said about half of it would be for direct war production.

From Price Administrator Prentiss M. Brown came the assertion that price control measures had saved the government $25,800,000,000 by the end of 1942. (Turn to Page Nine)

Rumania Is Mentioned In Peace Feeler

Ankara, Turkey, June 15—(Delayed)—(P)—Semi-diplomatic sources here said today that Rumania, an Axis satellite, had extended peace feelers to learn how her withdrawal from the war would be received by the Allies.

Allied authorities in Turkey were said to have been approached through the medium of a neutral diplomat.

The war weary Rumanians were believed hopeful of retaining Transylvania if they should capitulate before the Hungarians do so, it was said. These sources said it was believed here that the Rumanian offer is under serious consideration in London, Washington and Moscow. There was no confirmation of the report from Allied sources.

London, June 16—(P)—A Reuters dispatch from Stockholm today said the pro-German newspaper Allehanda published a special edition quoting a "reliable source" as saying that peace negotiations recently took place between Germany and Russia in Stockholm.

The dispatch said the story was considered a "Nazi plant" in Stockholm.

OPA Outlines Procedure To Follow For Ration Book No. 3

The Erie branch of the Office of Price Administration submits the following information which should be closely studied by all citizens, since it contains information on the proper procedure to follow after receiving War Ration Book No. 3:

It has been brought to our attention that some applicants who have already received War Ration Book Three have gone to their Local Boards to have the lower portion of the front cover filled out. That portion of the book is entitled, "Local Board Action," and spaces are set forth for date of issuance, the Local Board number, city and state of the Local Board, and also the signature of the issuing officer.

We have requested the national office and also the Office of War Information to release publicly on this subject, and to emphasize that the person to whom the book is issued should fill in the address, age, sex, weight, height, and occupation, and sign the book. The Local Boards need not make any notation on this book, and nobody need appear before any Local Board with that book.

Jap Sub Was Viewed Here By Hundreds

Tajo's two man submarine did a neat job of "hitting the Japs" during an hour's stay in Warren last evening. The sub arrived in Warren just at a time when a heavy rain storm also got to town. During the time the sub was on display there was about 20 minutes of rainfall which held up sightseeing time to about 40 minutes. During that time over $400 in war stamps were sold as people bought them as admissions to see the sub and several bonds were sold. Peter Fanaritis and wife purchased the largest bond in the sum of $500.

The sub was parked on Second avenue about 5:30 as it was late in arriving from Oil City and it left about 6:30 for Bradford. The sub is carried on an especially designed trailer and was escorted in to the city by a State Police car and the city police motorcycle. Eighty-five feet in length weighing 17½ tons the sub is carried with ease due to universal joints in the truck trailer. It was an interesting sight and the two figures in the sub showed the battle stations of the officer and mechanic in charge.

In leaving the city many watched with interest as the truck-trailer turned the corner from Market street into Pennsylvania avenue and also how it negotiated the turn off the Glade bridge. However the driver manipulated the big machine with no trouble. Since the sub left Mare Island Navy Yard in California last fall it has raised over $400,000 with which to carry the war to Japan.

Price Panel Group for Co. Is Announced

Mrs. Harry W. Conarro, 310 West Fifth avenue, heads the new price panel membership set up for Warren county by the Office of Price Administration, with these persons also serving: Mrs. Edith Smith, Mrs. William Wright, Mrs. William F. Waller, Wallace Cowden, Howard Alexander, Harry R. Baxter and William E. Erickson, with Mrs. Inez Wilkins as price clerk.

Members of the price panel are at present engaged in a shopping survey of various retail grocery stores and grocery wholesalers for the purpose of obtaining the prevailing selling prices of the most popular products.

These prices will be used by the district office in determining the correct ceiling prices for this section, based on retailers' costs and legal markup.

Retailers have been giving the panel members splendid cooperation and the survey is expected to be completed this week. The panel stated today that it wishes all to understand that the current survey is not to be considered as a "checkup."

Workers Are Needed To Repair Ships

To meet urgent ship repair needs for the Pacific battle zones, the United States Civil Service Commission and the United States Employment Service today issued a call for skilled or unskilled workers in many categories to accept jobs in the navy yards at Mare Island, California, Puget Sound, Washington State and Pearl Harbor, Hawaii.

A special three day recruiting campaign, starting today, will be conducted by Turner Tripp, a representative of the Civil Service Commission at the Warren office of the United States Employment Service. The United States Employment Service office in Warren is located at 225 Pennsylvania avenue, W.

Recruiting for the navy yard jobs has been given highest priority by both Government agencies. Transportation is paid by the Government and housing facilities are available. Family units or dormitory type living quarters are reserved in advance for persons hired for work at the Mare Island or Puget Sound Navy Yards.

"For the man whose wife wants to do her share the Mare Island Navy Yard offers an additional advantage," Mr. Tripp said.

OONA O'NEIL TO BE MARRIED TO CHAPLIN

Los Angeles, June 16—(P)—The Los Angeles Times states that it has learned from an unimpeachable source that Charles Chaplin and Oona O'Neill, 18-year-old daughter of Playwright Eugene O'Neill, will be married today by a justice of the peace at an undisclosed place.

Neither the 34-year-old comedian-producer nor Miss O'Neill could be reached to confirm the report, which was circulated widely in Hollywood last night, the Times said.

Chaplin has been married three times previously—to Mildred Harris, Lita Grey and Paulette Goddard—but in each case divorce ended the romance.

MISS DOROTHY HOSKINS

News that Miss Dorothy Hoskins, of 5 Second avenue, this city, had passed away at 4:30 p. m. Tuesday in St. Lucie, Fla., came as a great shock to her many friends, some of whom had not known of her illness. According to meagre information available here today, she underwent an operation on June 2 in the Fort Pierce Memorial Hospital, an institution which honors her mother, the late Mrs. W. S. Hoskins. Miss Hoskins and her father had maintained a winter home in St. Lucie for many years, coming home for a brief time during each summer season.

Besides her father, with her in the south, she leaves two brothers, Homer, in Morgantown, W. Va., and Carl in Weston, W. Va., and a sister, Mrs. Alfred P. Kitchen, of Philadelphia.

The funeral party plans to leave Florida Thursday afternoon and to arrive in Warren on Saturday morning. Details concerning funeral arrangements have not been completed and will be announced later.

MRS. EMILY KELLER

According to word received here by relatives and friends, Mrs. Emily Keller, formerly of Warren, was found dead in bed this morning at her home in Lakewood, N. Y. The brief message had here stated she had seemed in her usual health last evening.

Mrs. Johnson Has Been Elected Head Of Legion Auxiliary

Following a tureen dinner at the Legion Home last evening members of the American Legion Auxiliary held a business session and elected Mrs. Melvin Johnson president for the coming year. Others named were:

First vice president, Mrs. K. W. Davis; second vice president, Mrs. R. F. Hildum; secretary, Mrs. Howard Casey; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Willard Smith; treasurer, Mrs. Milton Witz; chaplain, Miss Florence Hill; historian, Mrs. Iona Morrison; serperane at arms, Mrs. Theodore Fox.

This staff will be installed, it is stated, at the first meeting of the membership in October.

Reports were given on the tea held recently for relatives of service men and of the Memorial Day dinner. Mrs. Harry Nelson, poppy chairman, gave a detailed report on that sale, most successful ever sponsored by the local unit.

Mrs. Merle Graham, coupon chairman, announced plans for a card party to be held Thursday, June 24, proceeds to be used to purchase a second Red Cross mobile unit. One such unit already purchased by the auxiliary is in operation in the Pittsburgh area.

Mrs. Elmer Munksgard, Mrs. Melvin Johnson and Mrs. R. F. Hildum were named delegates to the state convention to be held in Wilkes-Barre in August. Also chosen were delegates and alternates for the Inter-county Council meeting to be held in Kane on Saturday, June 26.

Members were asked to bring to the storeroom in the Beckley building, tomorrow the articles they wish to donate for the rummage sale to be held in that location on Friday and Saturday of this week. Arrangements will be in charge of Mrs. Harry Rogers and her committee.

FOUND PROWLER

Police were notified early this morning that a "prowler" was near a garage on the east side. Making a quick run over there the man was cornered when it was discovered that he was a night shift worker at the Forge plant and was moving some bottles out of his garage. The patrolmen also recovered a bicycle at Hemlock that had been stolen from a porch in this city.

GAS TO SHENANGO

Many who have seen the gas tanks rolling westward have been of the opinion that "all that gas is going to Ohio" might get a grain of comfort in knowing that much of this gas is going to Camp Shenango. This replacement camp has hundreds of motor driven vehicles that consume huge quantities of gasoline. Gasoline in Erie is getting to be a scarce commodity and many of the stations have but a small supply.

Persons who have been unable to register for the Penn State War Training classes may do so this evening at seven o'clock at the high school. The course for additional registrants are as follows: Mr. Allen's class in Applied Mechanics and Strength of Materials; Industrial Organization and Management taught by Mr. Miller; Qualifying Mathematics taught by Mr. Bathurst; and Mr. Barnhart's class in Engineering Drafting. These classes are part of the tuition free Engineering, Science and Management War Training program sponsored by The United States Office of Education.

LUMBER FOR FARMERS

James E. Walker, Chairman of the Pennsylvania War Board of the United States Department of Agriculture, stated today that plans are being completed to make lumber available to farmers for essential construction with a minimum of red tape. The War Production Board and the War Food Administration, Chairman Walker explained, have announced a program designed to relieve farmers' lumber needs for essential farm repair and construction, necessary to keep the Nation's farm plant in condition for taking adequate care of expanded wartime crop and livestock production, and to meet lumber shortages in certain areas. The program excludes farm dwellings.

Lightning
Strikes Homes
In County

The home of Mrs. Elizabeth Smith, Main avenue, Clarendon, was damaged by a freak bolt of lightning about 8:15 o'clock Tuesday morning, and the two occupants of the dwelling, Mrs. Smith and her daughter, Mrs. Archie Blowers, were severely shocked.

Mrs. Smith apparently escaped serious injury due to the fact that she had just descended from the second floor to the first a moment before the bolt shattered rafters and other timbers after cutting a hole in the roof. The lightning seemed to have severed an electrical wire which doubtless prevented a fire.

Mrs. Smith and her daughter, both on the first floor, were in a severe state of shock for some time after the incident but today appeared none-the-worse for their harrowing experience.

Youngsville also suffered some damage in an electrical storm that swept over that borough Tuesday afternoon. The storm was marked by a crashing of thunder and flashes of lightning with heavy rain. At the height of the storm the electric light system was out of commission for a time as a bolt of lightning hit wiring.

The home of Joseph Carr was hit during the storm and the bolt careened through the house. The young son of the family was affected by the electrical discharge and he received burns and experienced so much numbness that the attendance of a physician was required. The little fellow is resting well today.

Camp Opens
For Reserves
With Rites

The YWCA Girl Reserves' stay-at-home summer camping period opened Monday morning with the flag raising ceremony and a worship period led by the general secretary, Mrs. J. H. West, in which she placed particular stress on the theme "Remember Now Thy Creator In These Days of Your Youth".

Classes began at nine o'clock, when the girls received instruction in badminton, dramatics, archery, arts and crafts and the camp newspaper. At ten o'clock, the girls left for a short hike to Washington Park.

Upon their return, they lunched and opened their camp store. The campers then had a period of relaxation in the Music Appreciation Hour, when classical records loaned by C. W. Beckley were enjoyed. Following this, Auxiliary Grace Rochford, of the Erie WAAC recruiting party, talked about life in the women's branch of the service.

Following afternoon classes, the newspaper made its appearance and each camper united in the voice that this new kind of camp life is "really swell even if it isn't at Camp Newtash".

Little things that become
Big Things

THE U.S. ARMY Ordnance Department, early in 1942, asked one of our executives if we had a factory near a good supply of water, of sufficient size to make small calibre ammunition at the rate of many millions every twenty-four hours. We had such a factory on the Ohio River with enough feet of floor space.

"FROM CARS TO BULLETS
FOR TOMMY GUNS,
PISTOLS, REVOLVERS"

It was well placed near additional unused land and far enough from the city to allow the storage of powder and the loading and testing of ammunition.

The work of preparation was started immediately. The automobile machinery in the plant, which could not be used, was dismantled and put elsewhere. It was replaced by new and different equipment. A specialized laboratory was installed and staffed with engineers, metallurgists, and technicians drawn from our widely diversified staff. Production executives and specialists were also selected from our own personnel. While the factory was being prepared for production, the Frankford arsenal assisted the training of these production specialists who, in turn, were to train the workers and supervise the operation of the many departments of the plant.

"TESTING FOR EVERY

The first finished ammunition produced in this newly organized plant went on test in May, 1942. The cartridge cases were then made of brass. Brass is an extremely vital war material. Could steel be used instead? Could steel be worked over the machinery and tools that were provided for the use of brass? Could the steel be treated to withstand the corrosion

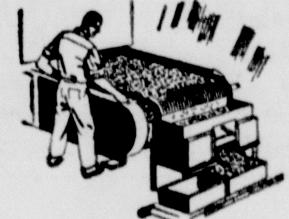

"COULD IT BE DONE

of a long sea voyage and to resist successfully the humidity of the tropics and the sub-zero temperatures of the Arctic? The U. S. Army Ordnance Department—and our own engineers, metallurgists and technicians believed it could. More engineering talent—this time chemists—were added to the laboratory staff and the larger and more complete Chrysler Corporation's laboratories, in Detroit, were also directed to the solution of this problem.

The first of the new steel casings were made in the month of August, 1942. They were pretty good. Then began severe testing,—spraying with wet salt air, burying in salty mud marshes washed by the tide,—storing in hot damp rooms and open exposure to the weather,—plating with lacquer, copper, cadmium, nickel, chrome, zinc, silver, lead—dipping in dichromate, sealing with plastics. A vast cycle of experiments were tried and tested and the results compared. From all this effort came a standardized product made of steel, and approved for use on all the battle fronts.

"THOUSANDS PER

The making of this ammunition is really the art of producing many pieces rapidly—many thousands per minute, every day, 6 days a week. Ninety-nine operations are performed to take each piece of ammunition from the lead, steel and powder stage to the formed, loaded, tested and packed, finished article—ready to shoot,—with every piece perfect in shape, finish, and firing efficiency.

We have made our first billion of this steel ammunition. Not that this is a top record for ammunition making but, to us, it is a milestone passed on the road to Victory. We will pass the second and third billion with much less emotion but we really got a thrill out of joining the ranks of the important producers of ammunition.

With this change to steel we release, with every billion rounds, thousands of tons of brass. This brass can now be used in war production where no other substitute is possible.

"A LITTLE THING

A finished round of ammunition weighs only a few ounces. Little things often do become really big and important.

Are Greece and Crete Potential Invasion Targets?

Subtle strategy of the allied forces may be to invade Greece and Crete while axis attention is focused on much-bombed Italy, Sicily and Sardinia. Large allied forces are poised for action in the middle east and there has been a steady, if small, unpublicized air hammering of axis shipping and communications in the Aegean area. Crete is the stepping stone here, while Athens and Salonika seem logical targets for attack if allies invade the land where British and Greeks were beaten back in 1941. Vardar valley, joining Danube farther north, is the natural invasion highway to Germany

"FAMILY CODES" BANNED

In a special release received by the Times-Mirror from the Fourth Naval District, Public Relations Office, naval authorities appeal to the wives, sweethearts and relatives of men on active duty with the Navy to put an end to the use of "family codes."

Family code is the name given to any unofficial and private method resorted to by those at home in writing to men on duty—and used by men in writing home—for communicating information which the censors would refuse to pass in plain language.

The use of such codes has been uncovered frequently and strict disciplinary action for the man in the service involved has resulted. The Navy now seeks to break up the use of such codes by appealing directly to the public.

"Men can and do get into serious trouble when their codes are discovered," said a Navy spokesman. "Some of the codes are so crude as to be almost immediately apparent. Others are more ingenious, but all of them can be detected quite readily by an expert."

"Just because a man hasn't been disciplined for compromising the censorship does not mean he is not under surveillance. The best favor that those at home can do their man on the battlefield is to cease the use of such codes and cease it at once—before its use brings trouble to their Navy man."

American censorship of letters has been liberal, it was pointed out, and there is little reason for a correspondent resorting to a code except to divulge something that should not be revealed.

Men are free to discuss family affairs in their letters, it was further said, and any idea that the censor cares about a man's private affairs is false. The truth is that a censor is kept so busy that he never has time to interest himself in detail but necessarily confines his scrutiny to an examination for items which might compromise naval security.

Regardless of how harmless or trivial the message may seem to the individual writing the letter, the Navy urges that it be written in plain language, so that if the matter is deemed improper, it may be deleted before it can fall into enemy hands.

Hundreds in Warren took advantage of the opportunity late yesterday afternoon to inspect the Japanese two-man suicide submarine. In spite of the fact that it was delayed by traffic problems encountered by difficult curves enroute the vicinity of Second avenue between Liberty street and Pennsylvania avenue was crowded with interested citizens when it arrived. The sub is being used to swell the sale of War Savings Stamps and according to all reports the admissions here will greatly swell the sum total already raised by the tour.

You could buy shoes with a No. 18 ration coupon today if you could find any shoes for sale. Warren shoe stores were crowded through yesterday and the same situation prevailed in all other towns. Scores of stores in the area closed early as their stock dwindled. Lot of folks who could have used their 17 coupon earlier regretted the fact that they had waited until the last day, when they discovered their particular model or size was not available.

It is to be regretted that too few citizens took advantage of the splendid opportunity provided at the high school last evening to learn of the important and vast communications setup that has been provided for their protection and safety in event of an emergency. Those who did take the time and trouble to be present were amazed at the thorough manner in which the Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania has prepared to do its full part in case this section is invaded by enemy.

The apologies of the committee in charge of the Flag Day parade Monday evening are extended to the officials and staff at the Warren Control Center for neglecting to make certain that they were assigned a place in the formation. This is one of the outstanding war projects in the borough and it is to be regretted that citizens did not have an opportunity to see the excellent staff of workers marching down the avenue.

Who would think of a pickle factory as a war production plant? In 72 hours the R. & S. Pickle Works of Boston converted from cucumbers to incendiary bombs, which have to be packed in a special preservative acid.

Even bold people were a little bit shy right after June 15.

A Good Trick---If He Does It

Washington in Wartime

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON — Notes from the Capital news beat:

Insiders are saying that it was little James F. Byrnes who dipped his finger in the income tax pie and brought up the compromise. He did it, report has it, by tipping off some of the diehards, like House Ways and Means Chairman Doughton, that the President would sign a compromise pay-as-you-earn, skip-a-portion measure like that finally adopted.

A Roosevelt-Churchill-Stalin conference now is considered a certainty here, but hardly anyone considers it worthwhile to guess where or when.

Not since Lincoln made his famous remark about Grant and his whiskey has there been a story more likely to go down in history than that credited to Churchill, who was addressing one of his generals who rather smokes, drinks, cheats, dances or dips snuff—and who prays devoutly morning and evening as well as before battle. "General," reportedly said the salty Prime Minister, "you are indomitable in retreat; invincible in attack—and insufferable otherwise."

HAROLD L. ICKES has really been hitting the jackpot. For months he has been ruminating about the coming crisis in gasoline in the east (fuel oil, too, but that won't be felt until next winter). Nobody paid any attention to him. Now other agency chiefs, officials, and so-so's are pretty frantic—and Ickes' telephone wires are hot. What all callers want to know is: "What are we going to do about it?"

Speaking of "roll-backs," the Army estimates that renegotiation of contracts since we seriously got down to being the arsenal of democracy has saved the government nearly two billion dollars—$700,000,000 in actual cash refunds on work already done.

The drive to get more women in wartime industries seems to have struck a snag. The Census Bureau says there were no more women in non-agricultural pursuits in May than in the previous months. Some observers now think that the greatest obstacle now is inadequate day care for children of mothers who would like to work. A nationwide government-financed program would add millions to the already 14,000,000 women in industry.

ONE of James F. Byrnes' duties as OWM director is to put a stop to all intra and interagency squabbling. Rumor has it that he has already passed the word along. His solution, it's said, is quite simple—"fire the trouble-makers, no matter what side of the fence they are on."

Just for what it's worth, some Congressional pulse-feelers are predicting that not only will the anti-poll tax bill pass at this session, but also the long-embattled anti-lynch legislation. Don't put us down as among the predictors yet.

Stamp News

RADICAL departures from long observed rules regarding United States five cent stamps mark the commemorative issue honoring Poland's resistance to the Nazis. The stamp, first of a series of eleven which will be issued to commemorate opposition of Axis over-run countries of Europe, will be placed on sale in Washington and Chicago June 22.

The Polish stamp, illustrated here, will have a purple background instead of the usual blue that has distinguished United States stamps of this denomination for many years. The flag of Poland will appear in its red and white colors as the central design to add two more distinctive features. It will be the first time that the flag of another nation has appeared on a stamp of this country and one of the few times that more than one color has been used on a U.S. stamp.

At the left of the central flag subject is pictured a phoenix, the mythical bird which to the Egyptians symbolizes renewal of life, while at the right is the figure of a kneeling woman with chains dangling from each wrist to portray the breaking of the shackles of oppression and enforced servitude. Both figures are supported by pedestals in which the denomination of the stamp appears. The Post Office Department announcement said that the stamps will be printed by the American Bank Note Company of New York "to take advantage of their special multi-color printing equipment."

Chicago was selected along with Washington as the site for first day sales. Postmaster General Walker said, because of its large population of persons of Polish descent. Collectors desiring first day covers may send a maximum of ten addressed envelopes to the Postmaster at Washington, zone 13, or Chicago, zone 7, with cash or postal money order to cover the cost of the stamps. Each cover should be pencil-marked in the upper right corner to show the number of stamps to be affixed and enclosures of medium weight should be placed in each cover and the flaps turned in or sealed. Requests for uncanceled stamps should not be included with such orders. Uncanceled stamps may be obtained at the Philadelphia Agency in Washington.

Other stamps of the series will honor Czechoslovakia, Norway, Luxembourg, The Netherlands, Belgium, France, Greece, Yugoslavia, Albania and Austria. All will be of five cent denomination and will picture the flag of each country as its central subject but whether the same general design will be used for all eleven stamps has not been disclosed by the Post Office Department.

Mexico has issued a colorful set of three postage and three air-mail stamps to commemorate the 400th anniversary of the founding of the town of San Miguel de Allende in the State of Guanajuato. The regular postage values are printed vertically and are of two, five and ten centavos denomination. The air-mail are printed horizontally in 20 and 40c and one peso denominations. All bear the inscription in capital letters "IV Centenario De La Fundacion De San Miguel De Allende, GTO, 1542-1942." Five picture buildings of this inland town of approximately 15,000 population and the sixth, the 10 centavos postage issue, bears a full-length portrait of Generalissimo Don Ignacio Jose de Allende y Unzuaga, Mexican patriot who was born there.

Powder Monkey

On board ship and in the artillery their buddies call them "powder monkeys." Not disrespectful, just a personal, intimate term between friends. Civilians call them gun crews. During a battle the crews of "powder monkeys" must work like trojans bringing the ammunition to the guns.

The gun may fire an anti aircraft 50 calibre shell or a broadside from the 16 inch guns of a great battleship, but in either event the "powder monkey" must pass millions of dollars' worth of ammunition to make the gun effective, and your savings in War Bonds are necessary to supply the financial ammunition that provides the shells.

Housewives Put Idle Glass to Work

KEEP GLASS MOVING! The American housewife is asked to join in a nation-wide drive to keep glass containers and bottles in circulation, thus helping the output of additional glass for war purposes. These two American housewives here show that the return of such bottles is a two-fold patriotic gesture. They receive payment for the empties, and they know the bottles can be sterilized and re-used by the nation's glass manufacturers.

LOAD 'EM UP AND HAUL 'EM AWAY is the slogan behind getting empty glass bottles, such as these milk bottles, carbonated beverage and beer containers, back into circulation. Closets, cellars, garages should be combed for empties, which can do double War work by being sterilized and re-used again. Now that Spring cleaning days are here, dozens of such bottles in homes can be put to use rather than allowed to remain idle.

"Yes Ma'am, your electric bill is a BARGAIN"

"I'm glad you said that . .

With price ceilings on this, rationing on that, and shortages on both, you housewives are doing a mighty fine job of home management.

"Now just take that electric bill as an example. As you say, without electricity you simply couldn't meet today's emergencies. Your radio keeps you in touch with the whole world; lights bring cheer and comfort into every room in your home;

your refrigerator gives needed protection to the foods you buy; your many small appliances each contribute something to present-day needed economy—and the little you pay for all these is indeed a small part of your total living costs—less than 2 per cent of the average family income.

"Did you ever stop to think that in the average home, a dollar buys more electric service today than ever before—probably twice as much as it did even 15 years ago? More than that, the service has been greatly increased, and the supply

"stepped up" to adequately meet war conditions? It's so. However, do not waste electricity just because it is not rationed, for waste in war is a crime.

"Yes, ma'am, your electric bill is a bargain. Remember that."

Phillies and Athletics Each Win Both Ends of Twin Bills During the Same Afternoon

BY SID FEDER

Associated Press Sports Writer

This is a little baseball laugh that wanders around the major and minor leagues like the chocolate streak in a marble cake and winds up with a very red face for Branch Rickey, the old smoothie of the ivory markets, as well as a shot in the arm for the Phillies.

It's about the Phillies' new shortstop, Charley Brewster, who speeds up the infield like high octane gas. And it fits into the diamond picture today because the good burghers of Philadelphia are still dancing in the streets over yesterday's astonishing antics, which saw the Phillies and the Athletics each win both ends of a doubleheader on the same afternoon.

Baseball men tell you Brewster is the guy who is making the Phillies run like a 16-cylinder job again, just when it began to look as if they were the same old jalopy. Anyway, they've won five of six starts since he parked his size 12's in the infield. And what makes it particularly funny is that less than seven months ago, the Brooklyn Dodgers owned Georgia Charley.

Rickey practically gave him away—and now the Bums need a shortstop like a hitchhiker needs his thumb. Just ask limping Lippy Durocher, who's had to creak around there himself the last few days. It was so bad yesterday, in fact, that Ernie Lombardi, baseball's original glitfoot, even beat out a hit to short, as the New York Giants joined the fading Flatbushers, 6-5. This setback sank the Brooklyn three full games out of first place in the National League, since the St. Louis Cardinals belted the Cincinnati Reds 3-1 on Harry Gumbert's two-hit hurling.

The Phils got Brewster, along with Crocker Triplet, in the three-way deal that was supposed to make a "chump" out of Owner Bill Cox. Up to then Charley had been moving around so fast his laundry didn't have a chance to catch up with him.

A few weeks ago, Cox traded Danny Litwhiler, who was doing the Phils no good, and Earl Naylor to the Cards for Triplet, Mustard Adams and Dain Clay. The Reds, full up with shortstops and always looking for a fly-chaser, sent Brewster to the Phils for Clay. He's made just one error in six games and has zipped up the infield until you'd hardly recognize it and Triplet has earned his coffee and cakes with two homers in the same half dozen games. One of them, hooked up with a triple, gave the Phils a 6-4 decision over Boston in their opener yesterday. Ronny Northey hit for the jackpot once in each game and the Phils took the nightcap 2-1 which boosted them into fifth place.

Meantime the A's socked the Red Sox 7-4 and 4-2, with Dick Siebert sending in four routs in the opened and Jesse Flores flipping his eighth win of the year in the afterpiece.

The Yankees went four full games out in front in the American League by whipping Washington 9-5 with a seven-run spree in the eighth frame of a night game. In the other after-dark outing—Detroit and Cleveland were rained out—the St. Louis Browns belted the Chicago White Sox 5-2 as the American League batting leader, Vern Stephens, collected a homer and a single. Incidentally, the National League hitting race was taken over by Harry Walker of the Cards, who connected safely in his 22nd straight game.

Truett Sewell served up a steady nine-hitter to give the Pittsburgh Pirates a 4-2 decision over the Chicago Cubs.

Podgajny To The Pirates

BY TED MEIER

Philadelphia, June 16.—(P)—Bespotted Johnny Podgajny, who likes nothing better than pitching against the Chicago Cubs, leaves the Phillies today for the Pittsburgh Pirates—who meet Chicago tonight.

The even-up exchange of the 22-year-old right-hander from Chester, Pa., for 28-year-old Lloyd Arthur Dietz, who has won none and lost three for Pittsburgh this season, was announced a few hours before the trading deadline last midnight. Dietz also pitches right handed.

"I hate to see Podgajny go," declared Manager Bucky Harris, "but I figure Dietz is a very good relief pitcher and that's what we need."

The exchange came as the Phils, rebuilt in a series of previous transactions by new owner Bill Cox, apparently were resuming their campaign to shake off the dust of the second division in the National League.

SPORT SHORTS

Philadelphia, June 16.—(P)—William D. Cox, president of the Phillies, planned an appeal today to Baseball Commissioner K. M. Landis from National League President Ford Frick's decision that the June 6 game with St. Louis, called after seven and a half innings because of rain, must be completed.

Frick sustained Cox's contention that St. Louis made no attempt to cover the field but denied his request that the game, in which the Cardinals were leading 1-0, be forfeited to the Phillies. Cox described Frick's ruling as "an outright straddling of the fence."

Philadelphia, June 16.—(P)—The Athletics and the Phillies each won a doubleheader yesterday for the first time in eight years. It was only July 4, 1935, that the A's took the measure of Washington twice and the Phillies defeated Brooklyn twice.

New York, June 16.—(P)—Maybe the managerial wiles of the lowly New York Giants weigh heavily upon Mel Ott. He was tossed out of the baseball game with Brooklyn yesterday for disrupting a third strike, the second time he has been ejected this season. In his 15 previous seasons as a player, Ott was banished only once.

Chicago, June 16.—The Chicago White Sox cooked up a bit of extra entertainment today for their war "benefits" contest June 30 with the Washington Senators. Prior to the "varsity" game under the Comiskey Park lights at 8:45 p. m. (CWT), picked players from the White Sox and Senators squads will form an all-star team and play the powerful Great Lakes Naval Training station nine, coached by Lt. Gordon (Mickey) Cochrane, former Detroit Tiger manager.

Athens, Ga., June 16.—(P)—The University of Georgia begins summer football drills today with a

Elks-Forge Tilt Moved Up To Friday

Old Jupe Pluv took a hand in the baseball proceedings last evening and he dumped a batch of water on the field and left it in such shape that the game had to be called off. Quite a few of the faithful had assembled as the interest in this game is running up to about one thousand and eight. The moguls of the League have decided that the game will be played next Friday evening at the usual league time and fans can plan to trek to the field and enjoy a good game.

Thursday evening the Forge will take on the Struthers team and this battle will also send blood pressures up to a high notch. Tonight the Forge will play Meadowville at Oil City and this game promises to be a good one as the Forge has a score to settle with the Crawford county artists.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON

New York, June 16.—(P)—A race that might have been one of the super-specials of the winter indoor track season is likely to pass almost unnoticed Saturday. It's a 1,500-meter tussle between Don Burnham, who ran in all the important indoor miles . . . It was scheduled for Saturday, along with the junior championships, because Dadds won't run on Sunday and the A. A. U. wanted to provide some opposition in case Gunder Haegg chose to run the 1500 . . . Mel Ott has been picked as the No. 1 father of the year in sports by the National Father's Day committee . . . From the Giants' place in the standings, we'd guess they're working on the idea that father always is in the doghouse.

Today's Guest Star
Carl Bell, Fort Smith (Ark.) Southwest American: "As the days go by without definite word from the Brooklyn front office, we're wondering if the Dodgers' proposed baseball school here this summer isn't going to turn out to be a bum deal."

One-Minute Sports Page
Hugh Pontano, Brookmeade stable trainer, has transformed the flower beds the stable hands used to maintain at Belmont Park into a vegetable garden with a horseshoe of cabbages for good luck . . . according to Greg Rice, Gunder Haegg's system of training in the woods may be all right for anyone who has "the European ability to punish himself," but American boys who try the same thing are likely to become interested in the scenery and forget to bear down . . . Carl Voyles, William and Mary grid coach, favors trying to play football as long as he can keep a team together, but he says he definitely won't play any high schools . . . Carl remembers one Virginia College team that took on a prep outfit during Word War one and still is trying to live down the licking it received.

Week's Worst Gag
From George Manoukian, Hamden, Conn.: "The Boston Red Sox have a new twist to that off-used baseball expression—that is, 'swinging like a Barna-Doerr!'"

Was he Worried?
Bill Wallace, Rice Institute track coach, tells this one about Bob Porter, southwest conference mile champion who'll run here Saturday . . . Bob got his first taste of big time competition in the N. C. A. A. meet last week, took quite a pushing around from the big field on the turns and finished out of the picture . . . After the race Porter remarked: "Coach, I'm glad that's over. Now maybe I can get some sleep."

Last Night's Bouts
New York—Jackie Cooper, 149, Chicago, outpointed George Kocian, 160, U. S. Coast Guard (8).

New York—Joe Mulli, 150, Brooklyn, outpointed Ernest (Cali) Robinson, 148½, New York (8).

Portland, Me.—Maurice (Lefty) Lachance, 128, Lisbon, Me., knocked out Ted Christie, 128, New York (4).

Scranton, Pa.—Charley Sabatella, 142, Dunmore, Pa., stopped Tony Grey, 145, Brooklyn (8).

New Bedford, Mass.—Jimmy McLarnin, 133, New Bedford, outpointed Russell Sawyer, 133, New York (8).

Buffalo—Johnny Green, 145½, Lackawanna, N. Y., knocked out Joe Spangler, 147, Richmond, Va., (5).

Los Angeles—Luther (Sluggo) White, 134½, Baltimore, outpointed Juan Urita, 133, Mexico, (10).

McClintock Gra-Y Takes Championship

With their fourth straight victory safely under their belt, the McClintock Gra-Y warrior left Beatty Field Monday afternoon with the city-wide Gra-Y Yeagor softball championship in their possession. This is the first time since the inception of the league that the McClintock boys have annexed the softball crown. They had a speedy team in the field this season and a captain in "Schreck" Schreckengost who was as level-headed as they come as well as being an outstanding example of the "Clean Sportsmanship" plan of the Gra-Y program.

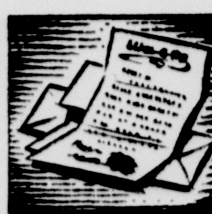

The league ran into serious weather difficulties this season which forced a curtailment of the schedule and necessitated the playing of several games after the close of school. The record of the victors reads as follows: Their first game McClintock trimmed Lacy 17-6; the second game was a neck and neck race with strong East St. team, with McClintock finally pulling out of last inning tailspin to win by one run margin, 31-30; they came out of their third tussle with the top-seeded score of 53-1, this from a badly disorganized Johnson team; their final game, and the closest one of the entire league was played against South St., the past Monday afternoon. After the smoke of battle had cleared, McClintock held the narrow margin of one run, 14-15. South St. had a nice ball club and finished second in the league, in spite of a play shortage in most of their games. The other teams finished as follows: Johnson, Lacy, and East As token of their championship the McClintock team will receive a Gra-Y pennant to hang in the school.

Chapter 7
JERRY looked at Ann a long time, studying her face. Finally he said, "How much do you think Terrence House is worth?"

"I don't know exactly but if I could pay for it on terms."

"You want it that much? Enough to devote the rest of your life to paying for it?"

"The rest of my . . . life?"

"Well, Mr. Baxton tells me he has a cash buyer for $25,000."

"Twenty-five thousand!" she gasped.

"He says it's worth three times that much but in these times with gasoline rationed and taxes high, I'd be lucky to get twenty-five. The place would be no good to me. I couldn't run it. So I'll probably take his offer. That is, unless someone outbids him. How long would it take you to raise $25,000?"

"Twenty-five thousand! Saving every cent she made at her old job it would be twenty years before she could pay for it. Saving half her salary it would be forty years. Forty years!"

"I . . . I don't know," she said numbly.

"Under the circumstances I could hardly be expected to turn down Mr. Baxton's offer, could I?"

"I guess not."

Afterwards she asked herself what she had hoped he would do and in the end she knew she had imagined he might make a gallant gesture, let her have the house at a loss simply because she had loved Grand Gussie.

"Goon!" she chided herself. To let the vivid blue of a man's eyes so dull her common sense! Of course he wouldn't sacrifice it to her. Why should he? She was nothing to him.

they drove to a wayside inn. He ordered Maryland chicken and avocado salad and some rare cheese with crackers for dessert.

Ann sat quietly, thankful that he did all the thinking, that she could relax and forget the unpleasantness of the day.

When the orchestra began to play he guided her to a patch of floor left for dancing. He held her close and once when the music broke into the haunting strains of "There Are Such Things," he cradled her hand in his and pressed it urgently.

"You're a sweetheart," he said. Then added, "Mine."

She drew her hand away, smiling more fleetingly than she felt. "You are a flatterer, Bert. I wish Mr. Baxton shared your opinion."

They were back at their table now and Bert gazed at her. His eyes were dark and deep and she felt an irresistible droop of the lids keep them from being wholly candid. "Doesn't Mr. Baxton like you?"

"He thinks I'm a silly, scheming woman, trying to get property that doesn't belong to me."

"Have you told him about the will?"

She wanted to say, "You told him," but she thought better of it. She said, instead, "Sarah says my grandmother burned it."

He didn't reply at once. He stroked his mustache with a thoughtful forefinger. Suddenly his face lighted. "Well, then, that settles it!"

IT WAS Ann's turn to be thoughtful. At last she said, "No, Bert. That doesn't settle it. I don't believe my grandmother destroyed her will."

He raised his modeled brows. "You don't believe Sarah?"

"No, I'm afraid I don't. I believe that will is somewhere in my grandmother's rooms and I'm going to find it. Will you help me?"

Ann didn't answer that. She sat silently, wondering what Bert would do if he knew the mineral spring which was supposed to be curing his patients didn't exist. Exposing the truth would ruin his practice at the hotel. He should be as interested as she in seeing that the secret was never divulged. On sudden impulse she wanted to tell him.

"It's not just the money that the property represents," she began. "It's . . . it's . . ."

The look in his eyes stopped her. "Now don't go altruistic on me, Ann. Don't try to convince me furnishing health baths to mankind is your real motive. I may as well tell you I'm doctoring them for the good of my soul."

He laughed and she knew he was teasing her. He supposed she wanted the house for the money it would make her and she couldn't change his mind.

SHE was glad she hadn't tried. He might be sympathetic enough with her desire to keep Grand Gussie's secret but he certainly wouldn't want to close the hotel. It would mean too great a dent in his own income.

Later at the door of Terrence House Bert suggested another evening together on Friday. She agreed but when he put his arms around her and began to draw her to him, she slipped free.

"Good night," she said and hurried into the house.

She didn't want him to kiss her. Though she liked him well enough in a friendly sort of way, she didn't intend to encourage him. Not when there were men like Jerry—she stopped her thought abruptly. From the library came familiar voices.

The temptation to identify them was too great to resist. By walking a few steps out of her way she peered into the circular bay.

There on the davenport before the fire sat two figures, discontentedly close together. There was no mistaking the tousled dark head of one nor the blond perfection of the other. It was Jerry with Sarah Townsley and they were deep in conversation.

Chapter 8
ANN was up early the next morning intent on going to the court house to check the records for some trace of her mother's adoption. Though Mr. Baxton assured her there was nothing to be found she expected to see for herself.

The clerk was helpful and together they thumbed through pages of dim script. But by mid-morning Ann was forced to admit that Lydia's case was not on record. Like many other affairs of Grand Gussie it had been an intonation and not a reality.

Slowly she walked back toward the hotel. There she found Gibbs working in the rose beds. She stopped to speak to him.

"Good morning, Gibbs. Anything new?"

"Nothin'." Then his face brightened. "Got time to take a look at the bluff?"

"Why, yes, I'd like to."

He led her to a cave-like door effectively concealed and overlooking the river. The entrance led to a winding tunnel blasted from the stone of the hill and angling enough to hide light from within. From this tunnel Ann and Gibbs emerged into a large domed room.

In the center of the room sat a big electric pump, purring along contentedly. Beside it was a great storage tank.

"Where's the heater, Gibbs?"

He took her to the other side of the tank, showed her the biggest water heater she had ever seen.

"Electric," he boasted, "and it sure works. Minerals go in there," he continued and pointed to a metal drum attached to a water line.

Ann stood staring, still unable to accept the fact of her grandmother's deception. But she had to admit the plant was well hidden and efficiently planned.

"THESE the minerals I got yesterday," Gibbs told her nodding toward a half filled sack. "But . . . is that $10 worth?"

"Yes'm. It'll last till 'bout Monday."

"Monday?" At this rate her small savings would be used up in a couple of weeks. If she were going to save the Terrence legend she must act at once.

"I . . . I guess I've seen enough," she said uncertainly.

She had seen too much. She would never have supposed her grandmother could conceive such a plan. Yet the more she thought of it the better she understood how Grand Gussie could have invented the hot spring. Not one to let a little misfortune depress her, she had taken proverbial time by the forelock and made her own destiny.

It was in character but that didn't lessen the shock.

Back at Terrence House she encountered Bert at the desk with Sarah.

"How about a turn around the rooms with me?" he asked. "Don't you think you should get acquainted with the guests?"

Sarah's unblinking eyes glanced from Bert to Ann and in the transition, cool, dozen degrees.

"Why should Miss Harrington want to waste that much time, Bert?" she asked with a gentleness that sheathed claws.

Ann had intended to refuse but the perversity of her nature said, "I'd love it." If Sarah didn't want her to make the rounds with Bert it was a good argument she should do it.

Walking up the stairs together, Ann turned at the landing and glanced back. The girl at the desk was standing where they left her, a flush of anger on her smooth, white skin.

THE first suite they visited was that of Mrs. Fay. The woman lay on a be-ruffled chaise longue, her housecoat bulging with the excess flesh her foundation garments usually concealed. Beside her sat a decanter of Terrence spring water and a compote of chocolate creams.

Bert turned on his bedside manner and greeted her. "You're better, Mrs. Fay. I can see it in your eyes."

She heaved a plaintive sigh. "Some better, I hope, doctor."

"I've brought Miss Harrington along to meet you. She's Mr. Terrence's granddaughter, you know."

Mrs. Fay inspected Ann critically.

"How do you do," Ann smiled graciously.

"If you're the granddaughter maybe you know what's going to happen around here. I'm so worried, I don't want them to disturb me. I'm so in hopes the water will help."

"It will!" Bert said heartily. "helps everybody. Are you drinking your twelve glasses every day?"

"Yes. All I do is drink, drink, drink. She held a hand toward him. The fingers were heavy with rings."

Bert covered the hand with both of his, leaned over her

I've been looking at a car that wasn't there

I WENT window shopping again yesterday.

I stared into a big, empty automobile showroom downtown—and pretty soon I saw a car.

She was kind of different from the bus I'm driving now. She was long, sleek and powerful-looking. The windshield sort of went clear around her, so that everybody inside could see out everywhere. There were no gears to shift. The cooling system was sealed—you never touched it from one year to another.

She had synthetic rubber tires you couldn't puncture—and that wear like iron. And fast? Man! The motor was only half as big as they are today—but how it would take the old girl along! And on one gallon of that new high-octane gas to every three my car uses now.

So—I made up my mind to buy her, then and there. And I will, too. One of these days, after the war's been over for a while, I'll walk in and drive her home. And I'll slap the money for her right down on the counter.

You see, I'm in the Payroll Savings Plan. Been in it ever since it started in my plant. Every single payday, I'm tucking away all I can in War Bonds.

That money's going to come back to me in ten years—and bring more money with it. Four dollars for every three.

I get a real kick out of thinking how that money's piling up for me. Money that's going to let me have some of the things I've always wanted to have—do some of the things I've always wanted to do.

Chances are, you're already in the Payroll Savings Plan—buying War Bonds—doing your bit. But don't stop there. Raise your sights! Do your best!

How millions of Americans have done their bit—and how they can do better:

Of the 34 million Americans on plant payrolls, nearly 30 millions of them have joined the Payroll Savings Plan. (If you aren't in yet—sign up tomorrow!)

Those Americans who have joined the Plan are investing, on the average, 10% of their earnings in War Bonds. (If you haven't reached 10% yet—keep trying!)

BUT

America's income this year will be the highest in history: about 125 BILLION dollars! In spite of all taxes and price rises, the average worker will have more money than last year—more than ever before!

That is why Uncle Sam has a right to ask us, individually, to invest more money in War Bonds, through the Payroll Savings Plan. He asks us to invest not 10% or 15% or 20%, but all we can!

You May Never Have To Take Another Laxative

Most constipated people might be as regular as clockwork — if they would only quit worrying — stop being nervous — take more exercise — watch their diet — and get more mornings an hour or so earlier to give bowels time to act. But who can or wants to do all this?

So — the next best thing is to keep the bowels working as regularly and comfortably as we can — and that's where good old Ex-Lax comes in. Why?

Because you may take Ex-Lax at night and expect results in the morning when you get up without waiting around — because they do not move the bowels so violently as to leave you feeling weak and washed-out.

AND because they help give the grand, comfortable, satisfying type of movement that makes the spirits soar — and what else a constipated person could ask for more? Get Ex-Lax at your druggist today and take as directed. 25c.
